WE NOMINATE

Harlan William (Barney) Hoisington Jr., one of the Princeton Community's most dedicated members, who in the weeks immediately ahead will be winding up his affairs here as he prepares to embark upon a completely new and challenging assignment—the position of Assistant Director of the Office of Financial Aid at his alma mater, Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H. After a full decade in Princeton, where his professional interests have been paralleled by all-out participation in service organizations, the 34-year old investment counselor is reaching out for the opportunity to devote his remarkable talents, and unlimited energy, to “working with, and for, young men.”

A vice-president and director of The Nassau Fund, an “open-end, no-load mutual fund” that has grown more than tenfold (from approximately $300,000 to $3,200,000) since its founding in 1957, Hoisington for well over a year has been pondering a career-switch into the educational field. He narrowed the choices down to the assistant headmastership of an independent school and the post at Dartmouth, finally accepting the latter, effective August 28th. On the New Hampshire campus he will help administer an aid program annually distributing some $900,000 in scholarships, $300,000 in loans and another $100,000 in job opportunities to some 1,200 students.

Hoisington has shouldered a near-incredible workload as a Princeton volunteer in a half-dozen areas of endeavor. Known to hundreds of youngsters for his contributions to the cause of Midget Baseball, Hoisington as coach-manager-trainer in the local American League first began thinking about a future in education. In his own words, “we won a few, sometimes lost more than our share, and learned a great deal together.” One observer of the baseball scene noted: “Barney in his years with the Midgets demonstrated a reassuring knowledge of youth, with its changing value-judgments and its need for constructive self-education, that will prove invaluable to any institution.”

Ably abetted by his wife, the former Barbara Diesrud (whose Norwegian maiden name means “a magnificent view”), Hoisington has been a driving force in the Princeton United Fund, the American Red Cross, the Unitarian Church of Princeton, and the United World Federalists on the local, state and national levels. In both the Unitarian Church, which he has served as Treasurer and Investment Chairman, and the Federalists, of which he is a past State President, his interests and accomplishments have been matched by his wife's. While he was largely concerned with matters administrative and financial, Mrs. Hoisington was teaching in the Church School and was editing the Federalists' excellent New Jersey Newsletter.

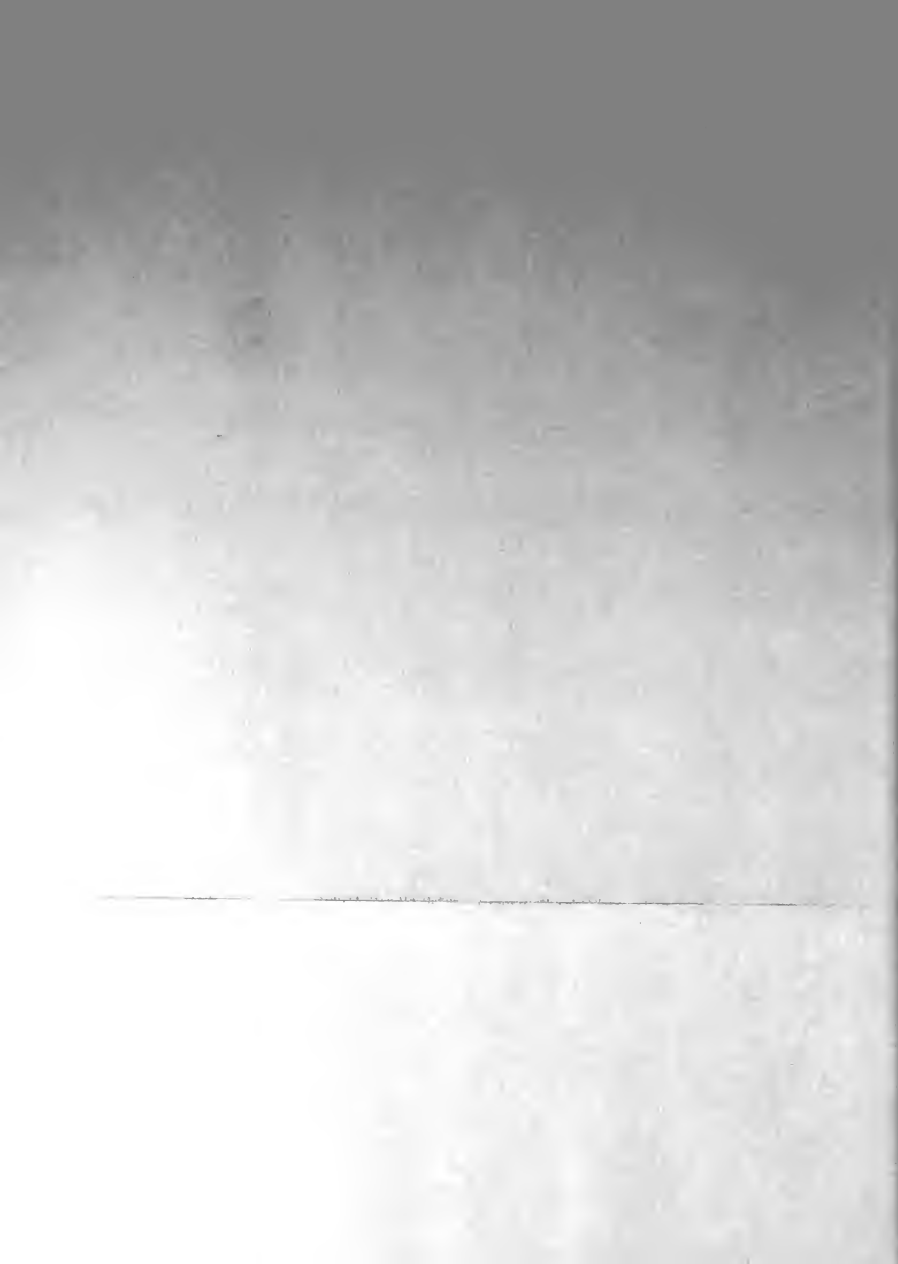

Hoisington, born in Pittsburgh and still a rabid follower of the Pittsburgh Pirates, grew up in Northern New Jersey, graduating from Montclair High School with the Class of 1944. Trained as Japanese language specialist by the Army in the closing stages of World War II, he compiled an outstanding record as a member of Dartmouth 1948. Prior to launching his professional life as a bond statistician in New York City with Philadelphia-based Drexel and Company, he had earned Phi Beta Kappa honors in Dartmouth's Department of Economics and had carried off awards in cross-country and track as well as in several branches of intramural sport.

For bringing understanding and enthusiasm to whatever he might agree to undertake; for seeking out what he believes to be worthwhile in the world around us; for leaving here in Princeton far more than he will ever take away; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Person To Person

The other day we heard about one for the hawk, when enacting how some nations get a change in government. It seems that this happened in the 1958 bloodless coup by Thailand's Army chief. The country's 31 cabinet ministers didn't even know any change was taking place, until they all suddenly ordered by the Army to meet their new boss, Field Marshal Sarit.

There they were told: "The Supreme Commander will have your resignations at 12 noon. Please synchronize your watches. The time is now 9:52."

That's one of the various ways in many countries of the world that overnight the lives and fortunes of millions of people can be drastically changed, sometimes for good, sometimes for bad.

With that kind of world backdrop, our democratic government stands out as a shining example of stability, for which we cannot be sufficiently thankful.

Stability is the quality of being steady, as a result of being well established and experienced, and is important in business as in government. You will enjoy the resulting benefits of stability in the form of top satisfaction, when you allow us to serve all your automobile needs.

Ten Years Ago In Princeton

TOWN TOPICS, July 25, 1951: As the big Fairless Steel works' planned completion across the Delaware River, the housing shortage in Princeton became more acute with the search for homes by executives with the big manufacturing plant. The shortage of white collar workers in this area was likewise more keenly felt as the steel firm hired clerks, typists and secretaries. Post-war expansion of Princeton area continued at a steady rate, and one survey estimated a population for the Borough of 14,000 by 1971. — Changes are that it will prove to be high, inasmuch as the decade from 1951 to 1961, the Borough's population increased from 12,230 to 11,859.

Long-time baseball player and fan Tom Trophay goes sports circles here something to talk about when he pitched a no-hitter for Princeton's team against Hightstown. — Scheduled folding play by shortstop Jackie Stone cut off the only potential safe blow by the opposition to assure the coveted triumph.

Caryl Bigelow Jr. and Stan's Doubles title in tennis. In golf, the seemingly invincible Stanford yielded first place to Pete's A.C. — Post 70 led the Junior Twin-M League with six straight victories achieved largely through the pitching of Tom Kobkins.

Mac West was due at Mercer Theatre for "The Damned Lie." — The Playhouse hooked "Peking Express" with Joseph Cotton, Jacqueline Calvert and Edmund Gwenn, while the Garden offered William Bendix in "Kill the Umpire."

The YWCA, located at 202 Nassau Street, was sponsoring a series of Friday night "Open House" for teen-agers. — Saturday athletic equipment was available in the form of free motion pictures sponsored by the Princeton Business Association in the parish house of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church.

On the birth list at Princeton Hospital were sons to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bodine, 219 Nassau, and Mr. and Mrs. Simon Moss, Cherry Valley Road, daughters to Mr. and Mrs. James Stacey, Lawrenceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Hartman, 33 Mountain Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth DeRemer, Princeton Junction. — Mercer Engine Co. No. 3 was planning its annual outing at the Squatters Club with Joseph J. Stemmle as chairman, assisting him were Leiford C. Birch, Frederick K. Bohm, Nelson B. Davison, Henry W. Kearney, Edward L. Lloyd, John H. Mowry, Laurence B. Patterson, Clarence H. Rodfield, Charles E. Tersein, Henry H. Warren and Richard H. Wood.

A fatal accident at 2:30 a.m. on the Cranbury-Princeton Road took the life of John Koch, 29, of 50½ Maple Street, when his car struck a telephone pole and his skull was fractured.

Scheduled to deliver sermons Sunday morning were the Rev. Dr. John V. Butler at Trinity Church, the Rev. Roland F. Chandler at Princeton Baptist Church, the Rev. John Johnson at Mount Pleasant A.M.E. Church and J. M. Loper at Trinity Church, Rocky Hill.

Man of the Week was 65-year-old Stuart Maple, a "senior statesman" whose advice was steadily sought on a wide variety of municipal matters after more than four decades of participation in Borough and Township affairs.

He was cited by TOWN TOPICS for "placing his responsibilities as a Princetonian above the demands of personal affairs" and for "believing so thoroughly in the things for which he has worked so hard and so long."

After a slow start, rainfall was very well normal for the month. Last week, more than an inch was added to the drenching 3.8 that fell within 14 hours on July 15, and Monday brought another series of cloudbursts, accompanied by much thunder and lightning. The rain had, however, lost the power to break the heat, serving merely to accentuate the turkish bath.

Two factors combined to make the suffering genuine: not only was Wednesday the

PERSONALITIES

George E. Keenan, 140 Lodge Road, has enthusiastically tackled the difficult task of explaining the United States and Yugoslavia to each other. From his post in Belgrade, the 37-year-old diplomat expressed happiness at "being back in the thick of things" after eight years at the Institute for Advanced Study. Although the books produced during those eight years won him national acclaim and a Pulitzer Prize, Ambassador Keenan said he became "lured and dale writing in solitude."

Seymour VanBlake, long-time Princetonian, now a resident of Honolulu and firmly installed in a position for which he was sought out soon after his recent arrival in the islands—head trainer of the University of Hawaii. A trainer in the University's Department of Athletics from the mid-twenties until last year, Mr. VanBlake received several extensions of employment beyond his normal retirement age because he was such an able technician in his field.

LAMONTAGNE RESIGNS
As Littlebrook Principal Charles Lamontagne, principal of Littlebrook School, has resigned to assume new duties as assistant superintendent of schools in Hingham, Mass. The announcement was made to the Township Board of Education Thursday by Richard Pearson, acting president of the Board.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Lamontagne said he was resigning to accept the position because it offered a "wider range of administrative responsibility and financial remuneration which I cannot ignore." Hingham has a school population of 2,000, kindergarten through high school.

Mr. Lamontagne has been at Littlebrook for 20 years. He was cited by Mr. Pearson as "one of the most competent and dedicated people with whom I have ever worked."

He will be replaced by David Nydick, who will come to Princeton from Ossining, N. Y. A graduate of York University with the class of 1951, Mr. Nydick taught various grades in the elementary level at Lakeville School, Great Neck, from 1954 to 1960. He won a Ford Foundation grant in 1960 and under the terms of the grant, has spent the past year as administrative intern in the Ossining schools.

Mr. Pearson also announced the resignation of Norman J. Anderson as secretary to the Board, effective September 1. Mr. Anderson, who is also secretary of the University's Bureau of Student Aid, said that the pressure of his University duties compelled him to resign from the Board. He recommended that the Board hire a full-time secretary and business manager to take care of the increasing work load. He has been secretary of the Board since December, 1954.

School to Cost Less. The Community Park School, to be built next year on Witherspoon Street opposite Guyot Avenue, will cost about $100,000 less than the Board originally thought, according to a report made Thursday night by Leonard M. Rimmering, chairman of the Board's construction committee. Mr. Rimmering also said that the Board will not need to issue bonds in the amount originally planned because of the strong competition.

tion among the 19 bidders. The bond issue will probably be $1,050,000 instead of the $1,150,000 sanctioned in February by Township voters, according to Mr. Anderson.

Bids awarded by the Board: for general construction, Keh-Downs, Inc., of Pennsylvania, $435,740; structural steel, Vernon Fabricating and Welding, Robbinsville, $65,995; plumbing, D'Vallo Plumbing and Heating, Trenton, $73,984; heating and ventilating, Di-Tullo, $127,971; electrical work, Comet Electrical Contractors, Westfield, $71,800. The marginal state of Mr. up for discussion following Anderson's monthly budget report. His figures showed an overall plus balance of $3,000, which Mr. Pearson said he thought was much too low for a budget of $1.5 million.

Mr. Pearson read comparative balance figures for June, 1961 and June, 1960, which showed much lower balances this year. He said he felt that the Board might have "cut too many corners" and added that if the balance situation deteriorated any more, the Board not be able to hire even one additional half-time teacher.

John S. Donald, Jr., chairman of the Board's finance committee, suggested that in the future, the Board plan a one or two percent contingency in some accounts to prevent the recurrence of a tight balance.

"We wanted to keep taxes down," Mr. Donald commented, pointing out that the Board had planned the budget tight because of the new school, salary raises and the merit salary plan since rejected by Township teachers "but it looks as though we have been overcautious."

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new school will be held on Tuesday, August 8, at 11:30 a.m. at the school site. The Board hopes that the school will be completed by September, 1962.

CAR-SALE ABUSES HIT

Better Business Bureau Warns Citizens on Sharp Dealings

The Better Business Bureau here has published a pamphlet designed to alert the public to abuses in sales of new or used cars.

The pamphlet, called "The Straight Pitch," can be had free by writing the bureau at 220 Church Street.

The pamphlet says a dealer who "quotes you a price at which he has no intention of making delivery is slipping you what the automobile industry calls a 'low-ball.'"

The pamphlet also warns against "high-balling," which it describes as "the practices by some dealers of giving you a fictitious trade-in price on your old car which is subject to 'reprisals' at the time of delivery."

Many of our customers will remember our mentioning these abuses.

This then, is simply our way of indicating confirmation.

While we believe that we have "lost" many sales to such practices, we are very pleased to say (without boasting) that June was our largest car sales month in our entire history.

We feel certain that most auto dealers do not practice abuses as indicated. Yet—there are always some, trading in a manner to create apprehension as to the ethics and honesty of all auto distributors.

AN INVITATION

We gladly invite all auto dealers in Mercer County to indicate an interest in discussing this situation and if sufficient response is received, possibly all dealers in the great state of New Jersey can be included. The net result may be to help establish a uniform code of ethics.

A meeting of 48 property and 43 expressed opposition to the erection of such a struc-

committee was chosen to represent the group, with Irving B. Kincaid as chairman. The other members are G. Dyke-

The effect of an exception of this nature to the Hopewell zoning law was cited as one reason for opposing the site, and the question was raised as to whether other apartment houses for families with children might be permitted, if Princeton Maine House were erected.

The group feels that Hopewell Township residents would benefit most by continuing to attract single family residences to the Elm Ridge area, and that the present zoning ordinances should be preserved and improved.

The committee has begun a study to determine whether

BOND ORDINANCE LIKELY

Committee Holds Hearing

Township Committee held the groundwork for the financing of its yet-to-be-completed Master Plan at Tuesday night's hearing on a $76,700 multi-purpose bond ordinance. Passage of the ordinance, which may be the first of a series of long-term bond issues, is expected at the August 7 meeting.

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman explained that similar bond issues may be proposed to pay for the capital projects in the Master Plan. Preliminary estimates have shown that if the municipality continues growing, it could borrow up to $300,000 a year on a long-term basis with a minimal effect on the tax rate, according to Mayor Fairman.

Passage of the current bond ordinance was not possible Tuesday because only three committees (Mayor Fairman, John S. Mount and Maurice F. Healey Jr.) were present, whereas state law requires four. It is hoped either William Marvel or Thomas Cook will be back for the August 7 session.

The ordinance provides $36-208 for the widening of Franklin Avenue, $21,425 for the grading and seeding of seven acres of the Community Gardens property, $12,891 for the completion of the Grover Avenue Playground, and $606 for the acquisition of a lot at the end of John Street adjoining the Community Gardens property. The Franklin Avenue project was approved earlier but was to be financed on a short-term (two-year) rather than a long-term basis.

"ENDGAME" HELD OVER
Ibese Comedy to Follow. The Princeton Players have held over their third production, "Endgame" by Samuel Beckett, for an additional week. It will continue through this Saturday, with Henrik Ibese's "The Lady from the Sea" scheduled to open the following Tuesday.

"Endgame" has been enjoying as great success as the 1959 University Players' production of Beckett's "Waiting for Godot" which also justified an extended run. The lengthened stay for "Endgame" has completely eliminated "Read-side," which would have begun this week, from the summer schedule.

Like "Endgame," the following production will be directed by George Fitchett, former princeton student. The Princeton University Theatre Intime and one of the Players' producers. A comedy, "The Lady from the Sea" takes place in a small Norwegian town and concerns a woman obsessed by a man "he knows to be evil."

Certain time for both "Endgame" and "The Lady from the Sea" will be 8:30 p.m. for the Tuesday through Thursday performances and 9 p.m. for the Friday and Saturday productions. Reservation may be made by calling the box office. WA 1-6598 or by writing Princeton Players Inc., Princeton Country Day School.

THE PLAYHOUSE
The Naked Eye July 20-August 11 uses the acting talents of two veterans, Deborah Kerr and Gary Cooper, to tell an utterly unconvincing suspense story. In fact, it is doubtful if there would be much suspense at all if it weren't for the deliberate tricks employed by director Michael Anderson, such as mixing positive-negative-positive shots for backshots and utilizing wide camera angles.

Supposedly, Miss Kerr suspects her husband Cooper of being a murderer. It seems he was in the area of an office robbery and killing, and his testimony sent a fellow employee to prison for the crime. Several years later, Miss Kerr finds an old blackmail letter accusing her husband. They start the tension-building antics of director Anderson as Miss Kerr's doubts increase. Throughout this, Cooper serves as backdrop for her, a job for which the American star is particularly fit.

Even the addition of a supporting cast composed of Hermione Gingold, Eric Portman, Diane Cilento, Ray McAnally and Sander Ries doesn't help make the whole thing any more believable. "Psycho" was bad enough, but at least it didn't have to rely on such a synthetic plot.

BECKETT AT PCO: Clov (George Reinhold) waits on his master, the blind tyrant (Hamm), in Samuel Beckett's "Endgame," now being offered at the Princeton Country Day School Auditorium by the Princeton Players.

"Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" (August 2-5) confirms an impression we have held for some time—that science fiction is the Van Allen unit has turned to fiction. The key Navy scientist on board (Walter Pidgeon) is called to New York for a meeting of United Nations scientists. What his plan for ending the disturbance is not approved, he sets off with the "On the Beach," may produce a worthwhile film, but in general we would prefer to visualize the future ourselves without the aid of trick photography.

"Like 'On the Beach,' 'Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea' is not laid in the far, far future. A nuclear-powered submarine is cruising under the

... are proud to announce that the run of Samuel Beckett's ENDGAME has been extended one week, through July 29... beginning with this second week of ENDGAME, the Players will henceforth perform Tuesday thru Saturday... because of a late-week opening night, ENDGAME was not reviewed locally, and people who saw and were impressed by the production (even on an SRO Saturday night) felt that the event had not been adequately publicized... the space for this ad for ENDGAME was bought and offered to us by one such enthusiastic patron... the decision to open henceforth on Tuesday is one example (another might be the improved cooling facilities installed over the week-end) of the Players' continuing effort to improve their service to the community as the season goes on... Samuel Beckett's plays are usually considered difficult material, but the extended run enjoyed by "Waiting for Godot" in 1959, and the active welcome for ENDGAME this season, would seem to indicate that Princeton audiences and actors have developed in common a way to get at Beckett's comedy and power... with the production of ENDGAME, the Players feel they have reached the level of professional excellence that Princeton audiences have come to expect of their summer theatre... plays to follow ENDGAME:

FAITH IN THE FUTURE: Nicholas Perna (left) and Samuel Nini agree that Berlin crisis will not explode in nuclear warfare. Most others, asked by TOWN TOPICS how dangerous they thought Khrushchev's threats might prove to be, feel the matter will be solved without touching off "the last war." (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Diplomats and the Russians directly I think others have warned that he has too much to lose. The Khrushchev's Berlin policy reason he is popular. I believe, may lead to nuclear war. Do you agree?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Nicholas Perna, 140 Hedge Road, student, Colorado University, No, I don't. I believe there is a little too much at stake to have something this big happen. The problem of world wide destruction would be too evident. There would be too much to lose and not enough to gain if a nuclear war were to develop. The only thing I can see, according to all the reports I have read, is that Berlin may turn into another Korean-type conflict.

Samuel Nini, 75 Littlebrook Road, plumbing and heating contractor. I think it will increase world tension but not lead to a nuclear war. I think that Khrushchev was trying to win Berlin very fast. I fully—through the people. Now that this has failed, he is using more drastic measures, but he'll stop short of nuclear war. A nuclear war would mean the end to all things.

Mrs. Everett F. May, Jr., Bluewater, newspaperman. I'm a very firm believer in no nuclear warfare. I don't believe anything will ever lead to nuclear war. I don't think Khrushchev as a dictator, will risk the lives of the people he may eventually rule.

Mervyn Goldstein, 13 Hillsdale Avenue, Lawrence Township, professor. I doubt it. I feel it's doubtful because we have a new issue of this sort practically every month three weeks, two weeks, or week in some part of the globe. I can't get excited over this particular issue but the general issue of affairs, over a series of years, but particularly cheerful.

Mrs. William Bierter, Butler, Trust secretary. No, I don't, because I don't think either side is willing to start a nuclear war. If there ever is a nuclear war it will be by accident and not by plan. I think what Khrushchev is trying to do is to test us. He has done this all through his stay in office and I think he'll continue to do this, not only in Berlin but elsewhere. If people are interested in finding out what is in Mr. Khrushchev's mind, his words, his beliefs, they should read "The War Called Peace" by Harry and Bonnet Overstreet. Khrushchev's actions may seem like a bluff, but he has a definite strategy.

Mrs. Frank Bennett, 80 S. Stanworth Drive, housewife. I really don't think Khrushchev's will go on the whole way, especially if it would involve ADVERTISING: VOLUME. It is based on the fact that why TOWN TOPICS carries them. Classified the year after the year. Classified the year after the year. Classified the year after the year.

David Hopper, 30 Red Hill Road, teacher. I think may, but I don't feel Khrushchev wants war. Some of the commentators say that in terms of food, national preparedness and civil defense, the Russians are not prepared for war.

Miss Harriet Arnold, 611 Lake Drive, photographer. I think we have to be prepared for any eventuality, including war. Khrushchev is tricky. I don't trust him or any of these special treaties he is threatening to make. He may not get involved directly in a war over Berlin but if he can get us into it some way, he'll try—and then blame us for starting it. Look at Laos. There's no answer. If he can get anybody to wage war for him, he'll do it. We have to keep on alert as possible.

Marvin S. Burr, Los Angeles, optometrist. I feel that the Berlin situation does not necessarily have to lead to war and, in fact, I don't see any tremendous crisis growing. I feel that all the elements are present which could lead to fruitful negotiations. In the world today where warfare means nuclear destruction, we can afford only to deal with this issue in a manner that will lead to a peaceful settlement.

Jerry Gildar, 12 Shadybrook Lane, student. C. W. Post College, Long Island. I personally don't believe that nuclear warfare will come about over the Berlin crisis—or over any crisis. You hear a lot of talk about countries starting an ever increasing supply of arms and that war will be inevitable in a few years, but I can't believe that a nuclear war would ever start.

Mrs. Donald Sutherland, 8 Greenholm, housewife. I don't think Khrushchev means all that he says. I just think he's talking. It is just an example of some more Russian shrewd rattling.

CORN IN JULY

A Bushel of Plenty. You can say what you like about heat, humidity and rain in New Jersey but do be careful: this is a family newspaper. They are the factors that make a garden state, and the sight of fresh, plump, bountiful vegetables from New Jersey farms and the taste after you slice them for the table, almost make the New Jersey climate seem worthwhile.

What reminded us of all this, is the recollection of a recent trip to Peterson's Market, on the Lawrenceville Road just this side of Province Line. (The Princeton side of Province Line, that is.)

This pleasant cornucopia is a self-service roadside market, probably unique in that respect, and certainly the only one of its kind we have ever seen.

Take one of the big, old-fashioned baskets from the stack, loop it over your arm, and make your tour of the garden. Plums, dark and light, almost bursting their thin red-purple skins; Jersey blues; Jersey tomatoes, faintly underripe, so they'll ripen in your sunny window and not squash on the way home—still faintly dusted with the sandy soil of the south.

Rows and bushes of peaches, hundreds of them, as warm and glowing as a summer check and fragrant with that ineffable peach-almond scent; transparent apples and green-tinged peaches; and even a first thing, in the cool of the day.

We heard one small boy, as he looked curiously over the vegetable table. "What are those?" They were beets, still wearing the red-laced green tops that are so often removed in super-markets.

Corn, of course, is the prime vegetable right now. You buy it in bags of six or 12 at 40c or 75c, and you know it's fresh because nobody, not even Mr. Peterson, peels back a single husk "just to see." There are no worms to look for, and every ear is perfect—we have yet to find a bad one.

Besides the corn, there are the makings of a full salad: garden lettuce, cucumbers, knobby green peppers, celery, cabbage. Try the zucchini, the eggplant or the flat, white summer squash when you buy the more usual yellow summer variety. Have snap beans green or yellow, and try the novelty of fresh limas.

All produce, "except the oranges," says Mr. Peterson, is grown on the two Peterson farms 18 miles south of Princeton. Fresh? Corn that If You Want Sun...

The mystique of the sun-tan has always fascinated us; time was when the badge of a lady of leisure was her white, white skin, the badge of a working girl her bronzed, has-moving arms. Now everything is backwards: you can identify a gal with a lot of time on her hands by how brown they are, and you know Sally is a working girl because she has office pallor. Oh, well.

What we're leading up to is Germaine Montell's Super Sol Creme which has taken top billing from previous Reports (see July issue). Out of 31 competing products, it is one of the first three "acceptable": a sun screen preparation with the highest protection performance.

There's has it, of course. It's greaseless, vanishing style, 32.

Isn't sold at the end of the day take away, you buy tomorrow is a new truck-load, up from the farm in a 5 a.m. delivery.

Those of you who are familiar with the market from previous seasons, will find that it has been expanded, counter-rearranged for the new self-service, more varieties of vegetables and such old-fashioned farm products as honeycombs (six pound comb for $3).

MISTY SPRAY

To Keep You From Withering. The one thing that appealed to us most on a recent visit to Thorne's, was the Antelope Spray Mist, by Parfums Well. How can anybody resist a mist? At the moment, Well and Thorne, in pleasant collusion, offer free Antelope perfume with the purchase of the new spray mist, and how can you say "no" to that one?

We've told you before about Germaine Montell's coup in the sun lotion competition. G. M. has the same formula in "Pour le Soleil" which is different from Super Sol Creme in only one way: it has a slight tint, so that you can dye yourself, thinking you're rigorously tan when you're really just beginning.

Adolescents embarrassed by the way summer exposure shows up, alone, will welcome the Helena Rubenstein special on that treatment set: $2.95 for the $4.50 combination of "Water Lily" pore lotion, Bio-cleanser and Bio-clear cream.

If you're going away, traveling, a lot, constantly on the move, consider the purchase of Lily Duche's "Quick Change," an instant action cream that gives a 40-second facial. Thorne's recommendation.

PYNE WILL PROBATE
 Mrs. Agnes Greenwald Pyne, a Princeton resident for 45 years who died July 12 in Dallas, Texas, First Middlesex County, Mrs. Agnes S. Bacon, Clearbrook Farm, the Pyne home on Herontown Road, as well as jewelry, silverware and the income from the residue of the estate. The principal will be divided among her survivors.
 Under the will, admitted to probate John E. Curry, Mrs. Agnes Pyne Cook of Dallas will probate in Trenton by Surrogate her mother's home there, all her furniture and other personal belongings.

Mrs. Pyne's sister, three brothers and the children of a deceased sister were left a total of $200,000. Three grandchildren were named recipients of $50,000 each.
 Her executors, William M. Ewatts Jr. and A. Eugene Palatka, both of New York, will receive $50,000 jointly in lieu of regular commissions.

SODA BOTTLE COSTS $105
 When Braxton on Highway. An empty soda bottle, thrown out of a car window on Lawrence Road, cost Philip L. Hudson, 224 of 24 Leigh Avenue, $105.
 The defendant was fined that amount by Lawrence Township magistrate Edmund S. Polkay, near where the incident occurred. He was brought to court by Cecil Simmons of Denon Road, father of a special officer on the Lawrence Township Police force, who was driving behind the car from which the bottle was thrown.

GRAD SCHOOL PLANS OK
 If Township Also Acts.
 Princeton University's plans for an addition to the Graduate College are all right as far as the Borough Zoning Board is concerned, provided the Township approves the proposed parking lot on Springdale Road. The Board granted the University a special permit for the project contingent on Township action.

This reservation was dictated because the University's plans did not provide adequate parking space on the same lot as the Graduate College. Instead, the University has proposed a 100-car lot to be carved out of the third hole at the golf course along Springdale Road, just over the Borough-Township line.

The Zoning Board also stipulated that the University would have to provide proper access for fire and emergency vehicles to the new Graduate College.

News Of The THEATRES

"ENDGAME" GIVEN
For Second Week. Spurred by the success of the first week of Samuel Beckett's "Endgame," the Princeton Players, Inc. have held the production over for a second week, and will play it at Princeton Country Day School through Saturday.

It is a decision for which Princeton can be grateful. After two shaky weeks, the Players have suddenly coalesced—or at least, part of them have done so—and have mounted a tense and profoundly moving Beckett which should be seen by anyone who values the contemporary theatre. "Endgame" at Best does not come around to every neighborhood theatre, and "Endgame" as it is played out at PCDC comes close to being, if not best, certainly better than anything which is likely to be seen in this area for some time.

"Endgame" is, of course, an enigmatic work which does not spill out its meaning into the marketplace. It is a tribute to the Players' production that the play is intensely absorbing even when it is most obscure, and intensely dramatic when its meaning flashes a sword to the audience. As if to accentuate its timelessness, it is played in a single scene, without interruption.

Total Despair? From two windows, high in the cell, Clov scans the world and the sea, believing both to be dead, but discovering, to his unbounded astonishment, a single, living thing—a child. It is in answer to those who say that Beckett's play is a scene of total despair that Clov leaves the cell and the tyrant in order to find the child. One never knows, of course, whether he makes good his escape. As Clov himself says, early in the play, "It is not certain," but at least he tries.

To portray these two leading roles, Clov and Hamm, the Players have Philip Minor, whom theatergoers will remember from his fine work in another Beckett play, "Waiting for Godot," two years ago, and a newcomer, George Reinhold. Minor, an always, shows himself to be a thorough technician and a very good actor, although there are always certain Minor mannerisms that show through in his performances.

Reinhold is exceptionally powerful in the part of Clov, expressing the crippled, inarticulate and beaten slave with almost flawless technical skill, developing the character—if one can speak of such in a Beckett work—shuffling step by shuffling step until the moment when he lifts his puzzled eye and "speaks a few words" for Hamm to remember him by. It is a speech that audiences will certainly remember him by.

Tension and form have been splendidly sustained by the director Joseph Filicetti. It is a play that would fail miserably with humbling actors, but it needs a director with un-99' for Nassau Street?

It may come as a surprise to Nassau Street residents, but the State of New Jersey claims a 99-foot right-of-way for the thoroughfare. Fortunately, however, it will "never enforce" the ex-tension claim, according to State Highway Engineer O. H. Fritzsche.

He stated that the State would contend itself with the existing 66-foot right of way after inquiries by Borough Engineer Arthur T. Brokaw. In a letter four years ago, Mr. Fritzsche apparently avoided stating that the claim would never be enforced, saying merely that New Jersey would be willing to sue encroachments "at least until such time as present buildings cease to exist, either by natural destruction or demolition."

The State's claim to the 99-foot strip arises because the Lincoln Highway is an old "divided road." According to the State Highway Department, it was originally an Indian path from the landing place on the Raritan near New Brunswick to the falls of the Delaware (Trenton) and was later established by law with the stipulation that it was not to be altered or vacated in any way by either cities or highway surveyors.

College complex. Finally it is required that if a traffic problem arises in the future, the University will take action to find a solution.

Mr. and Mrs. Elson J. Tribble, who live at the corner of Battle Road and Springdale Road, opposed the parking plan because it would create too much traffic on Springdale Road. Also opposing the plan on the same grounds was a Township resident, Richard Quinlan, 182 Springdale Road.

In other action, the Board granted variances to Miss Gibb playground softball league and boys to construct a ballet studio in the garage behind 217 Nassau Street and to the Garden Theatre to add a marquee. The estimates, where the name of the theatre is presently.

In criminal court, Roger T. Lyman, Jr., 18, of Carter Road, pleaded guilty to illegal possession of a pistol. He was fined $75 and $10 court costs. Constantine Masello, owner of the Master Picture Framing & Photo Shop, 72 Witherspoon Street, was fined $25 after he had pleaded not guilty to a charge of violating the Borough Fire Prevention Code. Fire Chief Frederick K. Bohn was the complainant, reporting that piles of shavings and cardboard cartons scattered around the shop constituted a fire hazard.

FREEWAY PLANNED

From Route 69 to U.S. 1. Among the projects in a $12,400,000 highway program Governor Robert B. Meyner has approved is a Route 69 Freeway.

The plan calls for a right-of-way on a new alignment from Route 69 in Pennington to Route U.S. 1 in Slackwood, Mercer County. The sum of $500,000 has been allocated to the project. Previous programs had provided some funds for the proposed limited-access freeway, with future funds to be allocated for actual construction.

He will also become acquainted with some of the undergraduate programs carried out abroad by Americans under Carnegie grants. Time permitting, he will seek European views on recreation that may be adaptable to Princeton Township's conditions, for, as a Princeton Township Committeeman, he has long been interested in municipally-sponsored recreational facilities and programs.

THE RADAR'S OUT! Township police are taking advantage of clear summer days to operate radar for unwary speeders. Residential areas (rather than rural ones), 25 m.p.h. zones and streets where there is habitual speeding will all come under police scrutiny. Sgt. John Petrone, shown here, is testing radar. When the special tuning fork reads 65 m.p.h., police know that the radar is synchronized and in perfect running order. The Township uses hi-frequency radar that can track a truck as far as 800 feet, a passenger car as far as 500 feet. (Richard Slesier Photo.)

DEAR TRAVELER,

Since NASSAU is on vacation it might be a good idea to tell folks that you are doing all sorts of things beside planning that trip to Europe. For instance there are all those happy folks coming to you for vacation trips to the Caribbean, Japan, Honolulu, and around the world.

Does anyone know that you have several people taking Flightliner trips to all sorts of interesting places like South America, Greece, and Australia? And that some people combine their steamship trip with an Air travel and still take advantage of the off-season discount? That should make a nice change of pace.

Oh, yes, don't forget to tell those busy executives who seem to spend the last part of their lives hustling all over the country that you are providing superior and accurate looking on money's notice. Or call to take care of transportation, hotel reservations, and car rentals will save them lots of time, trouble and general fussing.

Glad to hear that business is booming. Keep up the good work. I'll be back for more of your fine services when I return.

Cordially,
Tredy

MUSIC In Princeton

JAZZ MUSICIAN HERE

At Students' Invitation
"Let's call him up and see if he'll come." It was that simple.

John Warwick Boyd, senior at Princeton High, and his brother, Joe, junior at Harvard, are jazz collectors with a devoted and serious interest in jazz. Warwick has among other rarities, several recordings made in the 20's by the guitarist and blues singer, Lonnie Johnson, a self-taught jazz great who had once played with Duke Ellington and Louis Armstrong and had worked for many years with Bertie Smith.

The Boyds happened to hear him on a Philadelphia radio station not long ago, and after discovering that he lived so close to Princeton, they said, "Let's call him up and see if he'll come."

Johnson, on the other end of the Princeton - Philadelphia call, was interested enough, but he said he couldn't give a definite answer until he got somebody to take his place as a cook in the restaurant where he works.

A day or so passed. The Boyds called him again. Still nobody to cook while Lonnie was away. "I'll call you back," he said. After another day had passed, he called. "I'll come if you come down here and get me."

The Boyds said they'd be delighted, and then they asked him the delicate question of tip for an evening of top-flight blues. "$500? $1000? Make it $10," Johnson said.

AN EVENING WITH THE BLUES. Lonnie Johnson, 72-year-old jazz guitarist and blues singer, came to Princeton from Philadelphia Thursday night at the invitation of two young Princeton jazz buffs, and sang a evening of blues for about 40 young people who gathered at the home of Mrs. James Kenyon, Edgerstone Road. See story this page. (Staff Photo)

The elderly blues singer emphasized the development of the music history of the students. They were taught sight-reading and intervals and rhythms in both semi-private and ensemble lessons.

has been converted into a dormitory. Originally the beds were placed too close together because, as one official put it, they were "just within piecing distance." Each night the factory is filled with insecticide before the mosquito nets are lowered proving that there are some disadvantages to life in the tropics.

Based on British Novel. The film is based on a novel by William Golding which describes the disintegration of civilized attributes of boys marooned without adult guidance. Director Peter Brook is using an entirely non-professional cast and production staff in hopes of bringing some freshness to the production.

To find the necessary number of 8 to 12-year old boys, he interviewed over 1000 applicants in London, New York, Washington, San Juan, Mexico City and Kingston, Jamaica—the major requirement being that they both look and sound British. Mr. and Mrs. Horne were attracted by an advertisement in The New York Times, while Mr. and Mrs. Gaman's son Tom was a last minute choice suggested by Ernest Gordon, dean of the Princeton University Chapel.

The early June starting date required that the three Horne boys leave before classes ended at the Valley Road School, while Tom Gaman had to rush through his exams at Princeton Country Day School. If things go as planned, and rain does not interfere with filming too much, they should be back in mid-August.

In the meantime, all will not be work for the group. The island has a number of attractions, such as a Marine base at the other end, skidding and fishing—which all seek to prove that there are certain advantages to being a young boy with a British accent.

COMMUNITY FUND CHAIRMEN: Named to aid the Greater Princeton United Community Fund are heads of two major divisions of the Fund. Chairman of the Mercantile Division are Allen G. Frank of Laurens's Inc. (left) and Lear Quicke (center) of the Princeton University Store. Chairman of the new Professional Division is John S. Reed, insurance agent who is a vice-president of the Fund. The Rev. David Crawford (not shown), Secretary for the Princeton Theological Seminary, will serve as assistant chairman with Mr. Reeder. (Fred Foster Photo.)

PRINCETON UNIT LEADER: Among Memorial Societies, The Princeton Memorial Society is among the leaders in a movement to help people plan simple, dignified funeral services to be held upon their death. According to the Princeton group, whereas there were 27 memorial associations in the United States and Canada in May 1960, there are now 46 formed or being formed.

An article in the Saturday Evening Post entitled "Can You Afford to Die?" has brought a number of inquiries to the Princeton Memorial Society. The Princeton society was founded in 1946 as a non-denominational, not-for-profit group with the endorsement of the Princeton Pastors' Association.

According to Mrs. George Look, president, the Princeton group aims to save "loved ones from unhappy decisions at the very moment of loss" and preserve "the spiritual aspect of death within the framework of the individual's religious beliefs." Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Harold Cleve, 44 Nassau Street, secretary-treasurer.

ADULT SCHOOL PLANS

For Fall Term, Committee chairmen have been announced by the Princeton Adult Education Committee, which is now making plans for the opening of the fall term on September 28.

Also Mrs. Elmer Alpert, Miss Margaretta Barr, Mrs. Solomon Bechner, Joseph Drusins, Clayton M. Hall, Miss Katherine Lyons, Archibald MacAllister, Mr. McAndrew, Mrs. Robert Murphy, Miss Braxton Prescote, Mrs. Robert Serrell and Mrs. John Turkevich. Superintendent and principals of Borough and Township schools will serve as ex-officio members.

The committee has also announced that it will again offer two-hour language classes which continue through both fall and winter terms.

WANT SUMMER READING?

League Has Suggestions. The League of Women Voters has compiled a summer reading program for individuals wishing to study the problems facing local, state and national governments. The League publications are available through Mrs. Robert Danielson, publication chairman, 13 South Stanwirth Drive.

The list includes "Hard Choices," an explanation of forces affecting our domestic economy, international trade and world development program; "World Economic Development," an analysis of the long range essentials of effective foreign aid; "New Perspectives on Foreign Policy," "Man and the River," or Basin; "Higher Education in New Jersey," and "Juvenile Law in Mercer County."

LATE MAILING HIT

Hope to Speed Delivery.
Postmaster Charles F. Murray has requested large-scale mailers in the Princeton area to cooperate in reducing the mountain of mail which floods into the post office each day. The effort is part of a nationwide plan to speed delivery of essential mail, hopefully by as much as a day.

At a meeting with Mr. Murray last week, 20 of the largest mailers formed a committee to aid in carrying out the plan. R. L. Lehart, already chairman of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce group which is seeking a new post office for Princeton, was named chairman.

According to Postmaster Murray about 70 per cent of the Princeton Post Office's outgoing mail is deposited between 2:30 and 8 p.m., with large bulk mailings constituting the greatest part of this. If they will withhold non-essential mail until the following morning, the more essential mail will receive faster service.

Mr. Murray listed as examples of non-essential mail such things as utility bills, notices, retail store bulk mailings, insurance and other premium notices, subscription solicitations, charity appeals and local government mailings of license, bulletin and tax notices. He stressed, however, that only the mailer himself can make the distinction between essential and non-essential first class mail.

Princeton was one of 271 communities chosen to participate in the Nationwide Improved Mail Service Program (NIMSS). Its average daily volume of over 100,000 pieces of outgoing mail put it high enough on the list of 28,700 post offices in the United States to be included.

The committee under Mr. Lehart will extend invitations to firms and mailers not registered in the original meet. It will also serve as a general advisory committee to the postmaster, making suggestions and receiving complaints.

NOW HELPS HUBBARD.
In Mr. Merelson's. His two members of the staff of Walter B. Howe, Inc. real estate, who assist the O. H. Hubbard Insurance Agency in the management of insurance of late, owing to the untimely illness of Irving W. Merelson of the Hubbard firm.

William J. Wood, Jr., will spend a few hours each morning and afternoon at the Hubbard offices, answering technical questions, assisting with special insurance problems and providing general supervision in Mr. Merelson's absence.

Ownership of the O. H. Hubbard Agency remains unchanged, and Miss Elizabeth Frederick Mrs. A. J. C. Beardsall and Mrs. Earl Baird will continue to serve clients as counts. Together, the two agencies have about 150 years of real estate and insurance experience in Princeton and they share many accounts.

STOCK OFFERED

By Community Developers.
A million-dollar stock issue to finance the purchase of properties for integrated housing in the New York, Philadelphia and Washington areas has been authorized by the SBC. Planned Communities, Inc., a subsidiary of Modern Community Developers, 14 Nassau Street.

The prospectus offers 10,000 shares of Class A stock, priced in liquidation, at $100 share. Purchasers may buy one share of common stock for $100 during 1963.

Modern Community Developers, formed in 1952 as a result of successful integrated housing projects in Princeton and Philadelphia, now has housing developments in various stages of construction and planning in eight states. The firm also provides a consulting service to groups that are planning integrated housing.

According to the prospectus, Planned Communities is conducting a study of housing patterns, the possibility of acquiring land in Princeton and building approximately 200 medium-priced homes. No location is proposed, and the plan is restricted to only as long as under "active investigation."

The Board of Directors of Planned Communities, which is identical with the board of Modern Community Developers, include William H. Anderson, the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jackie Robinson, Raymond Kruger, John A. McDermott.

MISS MIERS RESIGNS

As Chamber Executive, Miss Beatrice T. Miers, executive director of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council, has resigned. Her resignation will take effect as of a date which will be agreed upon between Miss Miers and the Chamber, but which will be no later than January 1, 1962.

A committee, composed of Mr. M. Blaicher, president of the Chamber, John Bernard, George Cook, Jean-Francois Meyer and Paul Smith, is now interviewing candidates for Miss Miers' position. It is understood that an announcement will be made next week.

Miss Miers has been with the Chamber of Commerce since its formation in April of last year. She assisted in the drafting of the by-laws, assembled the factual information used in the "Fact Book of Princeton" published by the Chamber, compiled the directory of research and manufacturing organizations and composed the Newsletter, in addition to performing the usual executive office functions.

 of variety calibre, at either guard or corner.
 Dependence on sophomores is, however, a costly process for at least the first two-thirds of a season. Look for Guedes as a possible starter at guard, and for a fair amount of sophomore reserve activity at tailback if the varsity holdovers can't dominate the rest of the starting assignments. It will be a long fall indeed for the Tiger faithful.
Next Week: Tentative Lineup

TIGHT RACE CONTINUES
 In Tri-County League. A series of tie games last week served to bunch three teams in the Tri-County Baseball League even more closely, with Montgomery Township holding a slight edge over Princeton and South Brunswick.
 The Princeton Athletic Club played two ties, a 3-3 affair with South Brunswick and a 3-3 deadlock with Montgomery in other action. Montgomery walloped Hightstown, 11-2, but the latter nine came back Thursday to trounce South Brunswick, 10-2.

PAC scored three runs in the first inning against South Brunswick. Dick Burger hit the first pitch for a triple, Ray Cranston, Jack Hawkins and Jack Lackey following with singles. South Brunswick drew even before darkness halted the game after six innings. Jack Hawkins pitched for PAC, with Dick Olson relieving.

Montgomery took a 5-0 lead here last Thursday, infield errors making constant trouble for PAC's Bruce Sandvik. The home team tied the score on the hitting of manager Tom Petreus, Ray Cranston and Joe Chibbaro, plus several bases on balls.

South Brunswick will play on Bill Clarke Field this Thursday night at 6:15. PAC games next week are against Montgomery away on Tuesday and Hightstown here on Thursday.

Three hits by Wayne Carter helped Engine Co. No. 3 top the Lions, 8-4, with Billy Brooks and Dave Tessele winning the game. The Lions bounced back with a 13-2 triumph over Hook and Ladder. Dave Pailovich got the help as the winning pitcher from good hitting and fielding contributed by Skip Sincak and Jack Rubarth.

IVY INN BEATERS
By Spatsmen, 3-1. A two-hitter credited to Harry Karch gave the Spatsmen a 3-1 victory over Ivy Inn in soft ball action Tuesday night and served to tighten the race at the August playoffs near.

The Spatsmen took a 2-0 lead in the third and added another run in the sixth. League-leading Ivy Inn averted a shutout by tying across a lone tally in the bottom of the seventh.

In games last week Ivy Inn edged King's Inn, 3-2, both teams doing all their scoring in the third, and Ivy Inn topped Hinkson's, 7-4, rallying from a 4-3 deficit. Two other contests remain unreported.

Dread the Hay Fever Season?

More than 500,000 people have been helped by the electronic miracle: Puritron!® They feel better, work better, breathe cleaner, purer air.

Ask your family doctor or allergist whether he thinks Puritron can help you. Take his word. And the recommendation of more than half-a-million people who swear by Puritron. They say it helps. See for yourself. Plug it in; switch it on. Quietly, quickly, it pulls in air heavy with pollen (smoke, grease and odors, too). Filters it. Passes it over special electronic tubes. And out into your room: with pollen, smoke, grease and odors removed. Puritron is completely portable. Take it from room to room. Take it when you travel.

Needs no installation, no window, vent or fan. Plugs into an ordinary 110-volt AC socket. Use the Puritron shown here for rooms as big as 15 x 15 feet. Get one today for a 10-day home trial. White or grey. Unconditionally guaranteed to do all we say, or you get all your money back.
